"LETTERS" BRING SON'S VOICE TO MOTHER HERE

Mrs Colvin is pictured as she listens to a letter from her son written in South America The sons picture appears on the phonograph cabinet

Engineer Now in South America Sends Messages on Phonograph Record

Talking letters the like of which are sent to few if any other mothers in the United States come weekly by airmail to Mrs Emma Colvin of 441 Elmwood drive from her son Robert E Colvin who is superintending the construction of concrete docks at Barranquilla Colombia

The letters are three thin transparent phonograph records each six inches in diameter made by Mr Colvin in his room at the Hotel Del Prado in the South American city and sent to her to be played on a combination radio phonograph purchased for her before he left New York City in June

Voice Brings Thrill

For a month Mrs Colvin has been receiving these unique letters three a week and she still experiences the same thrill that made her sit up straight in her chair when she first heard her sons voice perfectly reproduced talking to her as if he was by her side By the side of the leather encased portable radio phonograph is a large head and shoulders photograph of her son to further the illusion of his being in the room

How he makes the records or what inspired him to use this unusual method of communicating with his mother and his sister Miss Grace Colvin who is instructor in manual arts at the Vernon Heights Junior High school they have not discovered yet although they believe the inspiration may have come this summer when he was perfecting his Spanish in New York City and used a dictaphone to detect the errors in his pronunciation

If her son could see her in her big easy chair listening intently now smiling now chuckling and

CHEER HARDING TEAM AT RALLY

Twenty-Five Hundred Turn Out for Pep Meet Before Mt Vernon Game.

A precedent in building enthusiasm and spirit for a Harding High school football battle was set last night as a giant rally and pep session attracted more than 2 500 school pupils and followers of the President eleven

Not within the memory of the oldest Harding fans is there a recollection of a demonstration measuring up to the one held last night through the business district and at the new Harding High stadium field The event was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Harding organizations as a booster for today's football game with Mt Vernon High school marking the opening of the 1935 N C O conference campaign

Climaxing the demonstration was a huge bonfire on the vacant field just north of the stadium off Willow street in which an effigy of the Mt Vernon football team was burned A long parade including the Harding High and Eagles bands football players high school officials nearly a mile of snake-dancing school pupils and two miles of automobiles preceded the program at the stadium field

Band Plays Concert

A brief band concert was held at Central Junior High school before the parade started shortly after 7 30 o'clock School youths bedecked running boards fenders and hoods of scores of machines

OHIO IS HIT BY HEAVY FROST

Minimum Temperature Here One of Lowest Ever for Oct 4

The sudden drop in temperature which sent the mercury to 30 degrees last night and damaged garden produce remaining in the fields and garden plots was general throughout Ohio the Associated Press reported today The minimum was one of the lowest ever recorded in Marion on Oct 4

At Cortland 10 miles north of Warren and in Cleveland the first snows of the season were reported Residents at Cortland said the snow began falling about 7 a. m and continued for 15 minutes

William H Alexander chief of said the killing frost which covthe weather bureau in Columbus ered Ohio did not cause extensive damage He explained that damage was light because most of the corn crop had been harvested and vegetables taken from the fields

He said a rise in the mercury could be expected Sunday, following continued fair and cold weather tonight and Saturday.

Residents of the vicinity of Marion said this morning that last night's frost probably killed the few vegetables and other garden produce not yet signed.

The maximum reading in Marion yesterday was 66 degrees A year ago the highest temperature was 78 and the minimum was 56.

Fall of Aduwa Held Imminent

By The Associated Press

The war of Italy and Ethiopia launched at gory historied Aduwa yesterday was popping like firecrackers today on a wide area

Italians announced the fall of Aduwa Verdun to Ethiopia was imminent

Haile Selassie conquering Rim of Judah and Mussolini who is reaching out for more territory for Italy—and has an eye to avenging the crushing defeat of Italians at Aduwa in 1896 already were counting their dead

Report 2 000 Italian Casualties

The losses appeared to have been predominantly Ethiopian One unconfirmed report was that 2 000 Italians were killed or wounded in heavy fighting just inside the border from Italian Somaliland Heavy fighting continued there

The Italians occupied Maibaria in the Aduwa sector which is close to Fritton and Mt Rama

The guns of the Italians commanded Aduwa and awaited merely the order that could hardly mean less than the capture of that fortified city of 7 000 persons

The Ethiopian provincial governor informed his governor at Addis Ababa said one report

Can't hold Aduwa much longer under heavy artillery bombardment

Advance to Hills

The Fascist columns had advanced to the hills 10 miles away commanding the plain on which the city is situated

Bombing planes scouted overhead and tanks lumbering overland sprayed bullets to land the advance of the troops into the highlands

Tigre forces already in position held their ground without difficulty

Italians asserted that very heavy casualties had been inflicted upon the natives who were terrified by teh sight of the death dealing, mysterious tanks

Other columns were reported poised for a drive on Harar, key city, capital of the province of that name with the objective of cutting the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway, Ethiopia's only means of bringing in supplies from abroad.

Bombing planes based at Assab and other strategic aviation centers, were expected to load shortly hundreds of pounds of high explosive bombs, to be dropped on the railway, bridges over the Hawash river.

Fascist Agression Struggle

While the warriors fought the agencies of peace continued their struggle at Geneva, at Paris and at London.

Italians Advance From Three Sides

By JAMES A MILLER

Copyright 1935 The Associated Press

ADDIS ABABA Oct 4—(On press trip) Haile Selassie today announced a clash between Italians and Ethiopians in Ogaden thereby indicating that the Italian forces are attempting to penetrate Ethiopia from three directions

The emperor said there had been 200 casualties on each side in the Ogaden battle

It was the first official statement of fighting in the southeastern sector

Coming In Two Columns

From the northeast the Fascist legions were coming in two columns

They occupied Maibaria and Mount Rama and Lombed Tigre from the air

Despite the Italian occupation without opposition of certain towns north of the Aduwa Akaum line, the emperor expressed the fullest confidence that his army was now entrenched in formidable mountain positions on the northern front and would be able to hold the Fascists back

Attack No Surprise

He said that while he was greatly distressed by the air bombing of northern towns—involving the deaths he said, of women and children—the Italian advance was no surprise since it had been fully expected from the beginning

Several airplanes carrying arms and instructions to tribal chiefs left the capital today for different parts of the country

The third line development came at Dertdawa on the railroad line between Addis Ababa and Djibuti, French Somaliland the Ethiopian capital's only modern contact with the outside world

French police ordered evacuation of Americans and other foreigners in the city, in fear of an immediate air raid, which might come from Italian Somaliland on the east.

Minister Will Remain

Residents of the capital itself were in terror of an early air attack but the Italian minister, Luigi, Vinci-Gugliemi, stuck to his post. The government amid the reports of continuing bombings and battles in the Italian penetration into the domain of Emperor Haile Selassie, fighting for its independence, was without details as to the strength of the opposing forces or the number of casualties.

The Ethiopian government sent another note to the League of Nations, declaring that despite Rome's alleged bombing of Aduwa evacuated, in which it said a peaceful way

WFORD COUNTY HANDLE RELIEF

ssioners Assure Jobless
d After Banks Agree
To Accept Notes.

Special to The Star
CRESTLINE, Oct. 4—When the federal government drops its relief program in Crawford county next Monday the work will be resumed at once with county funds, the county commissioners assured relief clients late Thursday.

Arrangements have been made with several of the county's banks to accept notes in return for cash, the notes to be paid as quickly as the county sells $39,000 in relief bonds against the utilities excise tax.

Participating banks have given the county 90 days in which to meet the notes, it being the commissioners' opinion that the bond money will be available before that time.

In the meantime plans are going forward for the formation of a county relief organization, but there are differences of opinion as to how the organization shall be operated.

The commissioners are reported favoring a plan whereby each community would take its own share from the $39,000 and set up its own relief organization. Against this there is opinion prevailing that the county should employ Relief Administrator Robert A. Jenigen and his staff for at least the remainder of the month. Jenigen has offered his services at his regular salary and his staff members, he has reported, would be paid by the government until Nov. 1.

For police use a New York man has invented a glove supplied with enough electricity from a belt worn by a user to overcome a person grasped by it.

COMEDY IN COLBERT PICTURE AT PALACE PLEASANT SURPRISE

What to this reviewer is one of the surprise comedy hits of the year She Married Her Boss opened a three day run at the Palace theater yesterday, with Claudette Colbert and a fine supporting cast

Surprised because I didn't expect too much and wasn't oversold with the possibilities of being highly entertained An executive secretary marries her boss and thereby lies the theme of a story developed by Director Gregory La Cava principally for laugh purposes

Other than Colbert the cast contains names that are not generally familiar to average screen audiences Melvyn Douglas plays the boss and husband and Michael Bartlett portrays the other man Douglas has been on the screen for a long time arriving there from the stage but has been buried in some pretty punk roles Watch his smoke from now on in though provided of course he draws decent assignments His characterization in She Married Her Boss is excellent and he's good for at least two dozen laughs

If you're seeking first class entertainment dished out by a swell cast take a shot at She Married Her Boss —G H M

BLACK WIDOW SPIDER ADVANCES TO NORTH

Millions Peril Middle West, Is Discovery of Arkansas Scientist.

By International News Service

TUCSON, Ariz.—With the reputation of being more dangerous than a dozen John Dillingers millions of black widow spiders are slowly advancing northward through the middlewestern states and into Canada.

This migration was discovered by Dr William J Baerg of the University of Arkansas who has traveled several thousand miles on a survey trip

Black widows are moving into states where they have never been known before he said For instance Kansas is usually free of them but this year they are to be found everywhere in that state

"The mildness of our last two winters has caused this increased cold is the great enemy of the spider

The black widows can increase surprisingly fast A female may bring 2000 offspring into the world during her lifetime of a year the only factor that saves mankind from being plagued with them is their own cannibalistic nature They devour each other a mother often eating her offspring

Similar visitations in Denver caused houses to be abandoned and scurrying of persons by the millions in other localities has been reported

Thanks "Vendol" for Relief from Bad Stomach Trouble

Marion man had suffered for years from gas, sourness, cramps and heart burn Liver was sluggish, bowels constipated

MR M B GOOD

I cannot speak too highly in praise of Vendol after what it has done for me It has given wonderful relief and I feel better than for a long time says Mr M B Good of 136 Latourette Street Marion

My stomach was very weak and my digestion poor Everything I ate disagreed with me and in about an hour after meals my stomach would begin to churn gas bloated me up and sharp pains seemed to cut across my stomach I'd belch up my food along with a hot, sour liquid

My nerves were on edge so I couldn't sleep well but would roll and toss for hours My bowels were constipated and my kidneys acted very freely both day and night

I read in the papers what Vendol was doing for people living all around here and this gave me confidence to try it I felt better in less than a week and have now taken five bottles of Vendol and some of the little laxative tablets that go with it and this treatment has surely been a blessing to me I have such a good appetite that I often eat four times a day and Vendol has helped my stomach so much that it all digests well never causing the gas cramps or sourness as before My nerves are steady so that I get sound restful sleep kidneys no longer act so free and never get me up during the night I've never seen anything act so nicely on the bowels as Vendol and now I'm regular every day I sure think Vendol for the wonderful relief it has given me

Vendol is sold by Sam's Pharmacy Heaney & Cooper and all other leading druggists everywhere —Adv

Less Than Satisfactory.

If President Roosevelt expected to dispel doubt and fear of his financial policy by his recent optimistic review of the prospects, he must be disappointed. The effect of his optimism was to encourage examination of budgetary figures, and there is no cheer to be derived from them.

The President's predictions of a balanced budget sometime in the future, of a deficit for the current year a billion dollars less than anticipated last January and of no new taxation all are based on Micawber philosophy. Various things are going to have to turn up to make the predictions come true, and there is no satisfactory assurance they will actually turn up.

Business must improve greatly if relief expenditures are to fall off, and revenue is to increase enough to bring the rate of spending within striking distance of the rate of collecting. The agricultural adjustment act must be held constitutional if farm benefits are not going to necessitate new taxes. The drive to coerce congress into paying the veterans' bonus must collapse or the budget will be thrown into greater chaos by the addition of several billion dollars.

A modern item in the prospect is the probable cost of carrying the short term securities bound to finance the depression deficit. Much has been said about the advantage the treasury has taken of low interest rates, yet it is obvious that if business improves interest rates will be forced to higher levels. Therefore, short term securities, as they are refinanced to postpone a day of reckoning, will be a constantly increasing burden on the treasury.

It is reassuring, nevertheless, to hear President Roosevelt talking as though he finally had given serious thought to the position of the national treasury. Apparently he has realized that his political future and the welfare of the country are dependent on recovery, instead of reform. It is a line of thinking which Mr. Roosevelt seems to have evaded up to this time. It is somewhat late to cleave to it, but not too late.

Political Machines.

The defeat of Mayor Harry L. Davis in Cleveland's primary Tuesday, whatever else it may signify, demonstrates that a political machine is only as strong as its acceptance by voters.

Mayor Davis attempted to make his position secure by constructing a closely knit machine which would guarantee his reelection. He succeeded only in constructing the machine. When the test came, it failed.

The trouble seems to have been that it offended the sensibilities of too many independent voters. Its own strength was not sufficient to offset the strength of its critics.

Machine politics is a phrase with an opprobrious meaning, but the fact is that the machine is a necessary and inevitable device in politics. The candidate who defeats the machine controlled by his opponent immediately constructs a machine controlled by himself.

The problem is not the construction of the machine, but its operation in a manner that will not alienate public support. Mayor Davis, apparently, operated his machine not wisely but too well.

Confusion of Purposes.

The delicate question of American neutrality, which congress tried to answer with a temporary resolution at the close of the recent session, threatens to become acute and pressing before another congressional session convenes.

There is confusion of purposes in America's use of embargo to secure neutrality, unfortunately. On one hand it is viewed as a means of discouraging war by handicapping the combatants. On the other hand, it is viewed as a means of keeping the United States from being sucked into the maelstrom of a foreign war.

From the latter viewpoint, it is plain that nothing but complete suspension of foreign trade would guarantee neutrality. The war department has listed more than 4,000 peacetime products which may be used in the preparation for and conduct of war. In a large sense, nothing which is used can be classified as anything but a necessity for war, if the nation which uses it is in a state of war.

The partial embargo on exportation of a few direct implements of war, as defined recently by President Roosevelt in the event of war between Italy and Ethiopia, obviously means nothing so far as prevention of war is concerned. The United States, which has been exporting large quantities of copper, iron, trucks and fuel to Italy, is not prepared to withhold anything Italy is prepared to purchase. As a war preventive, an embargo is virtually useless unless it is universal.

The turning point of neutrality is, of course, the freedom of the United States to trade as it pleases. The destiny of products is secondary, since a steel ingot to the export trade may be converted into a gun barrel as easily as it may be converted into a plowshare. In other words, as war now appears as a reality, it is increasingly plain that the only positive guarantee of neutrality would be withdrawal from all foreign markets. Unfortunately, the United States is not willing to pay so great a price for the privilege of keeping out of danger of foreign entanglements.

United Italy.

Premier Mussolini demonstrated for the benefit of Italians and their international neighbors Wednesday that his country stands united behind its dictator. The last mobilization of millions of Italians was typical of fascism. It was a perfect expression of the supremacy of the state over the individual within the state.

Otherwise, it was the formal opening of the Italian campaign against Ethiopia, whose emperor simultaneously reported the beginning of invasion. To all intents and purposes, the war is under way, though it may be some time before any important battle is fought. Emphasis shifts now from preparation to the actual conduct of the campaign.

Important as events in Ethiopia will be, their repercussions in Europe will be vastly more important. Italy's colonial campaign is seen by most thoughtful observers as nothing more than an introduction to a struggle in a wider sphere. Frederick T. Birchall, capable foreign correspondent of The New York Times, recently wrote the following statement:

"All Europe is gradually, but quite perceptibly, drifting into two opposing camps, between which must, sooner or later, be fought a real Armageddon, the battle of democracy against fascism, in which it may be that liberty, as the world has known it, will waste for its last stand against dictatorship. That is the basic fact underlying the whole situation."

Mr. Birchall has been a keen analyst of European trends in the past. Perhaps he may be wrong. Possibly he predicts as a certainty a thing which is only a possibility. Yet, it is not easy to forget what Premier Mussolini has been able to do in his role of fascist dictator. He shouts and a great nation applauds. He has a united nation at his command. When the destiny of individuals is made so directly dependent on the judgment of one man, can anything be called impossible? A few short years ago the Mussolini who now struts in autocratic splendor at the head of 40,000,000 would have been called impossible.

Practical Education.

It wasn't many years ago that educators shocked the public with proposals for teaching boys and girls how to cook, sew and mend the cellar steps as part of their education. Even yet, there are persons who think anything but the fundamentals of a classical education are tomfoolery and a waste of money. They never got over the shock of putting practical education into the public school system.

Undoubtedly, the decision of Chicago school authorities to establish a course in automobile driving will be denounced vigorously by the same persons who once upon a time thought domestic science and manual training were nothing but silly ways of teaching children a lot of useless foolishness. The old ideas die hard. Some day, educators will be proposing silly and extravagant courses in airplane piloting no doubt.

Maybe it is stupid and wasteful to attempt to teach children how to drive automobiles. In all probability, most of the instruction will be disregarded anyway when the children actually begin to drive, and a lot of the rules will be impractical like the recipe for fried bananas which Mary brought home from domestic science class back in 1920.

But there's just a chance that a course in automobile driving in a city of Chicago's size might save, in the course of 10 years, a few dozen lives. Perhaps it's silly to go to the bother of trying to save a few dozen lives by telling children what to do and what not to do on the highway, but on the whole it would seem stiller to continue to ignore a matter which has forced itself into the foreground of attention in every thoughtful person's mind. In the interest of humanity, something must be done to decrease the appalling frequency of traffic deaths and accidents. What better approach could there be than through the children who will be tomorrow's drivers?

Neighborhood History

OLD WOOLEN MILL.

One of the well known business enterprises of Carey, Wyandot county, was the woolen mill and handle factory established by William Aspinall in 1876. Prior to locating in Carey he was engaged in the same occupation in Logan county.

In the spring of 1884 he added machinery for manufacturing handles to the woolen mill which he had previously purchased from Enos Wonder. The "handle" branch of the business was given attention during the winter season, the factory having a capacity of 2,500 to 3,000 handles per day.

The spinning capacity of the mill was 160 spindles, turning off 50 to 75 pounds of wool per day. From one to three looms were kept in operation with stocking yarns as a specialty.

"Let's forget politics!" thunders an Ohio editor. Have the committees on uses for the new leisure an alternative in this crisis? —San Francisco Chronicle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Thoughts while strolling East of the middle 50s: Owen D. Young. I always run up Park Avenue and Edith Wharton. And before who look at signs in German. H. L. Mencken, Frank Crowninshield and Frank Case. For Rupert Orin Hughes and a stop in Brooklyn.

Memory: A bone collar button turning yellow. Look children! Lou Little and the late Montagne Glass. Pity regrets for those who have to begin all over again. When three right hands gave out Ted and H. T. Webster learned to draw with their left. Bill Corum is setting a swift pace for sports architects.

John D., Sr. and Daniel Frohman are always good for Page One birthday spreads. What side whiskers, the Waldorf's Oscar would make a hang-up. John Bull And Roxy could pass for Napoleon in one of those Little Corporal suits. How David Warfield made them blubber with his chin quivering.

I like that word for a partner of a lower evening—companion. Nobody could flap back their gloves and carry a case with that certain something like Maurice, the dancer. Dick Barton can shock off weight faster than any one I know. And put it on in the same fashion.

Speak easy: A reporter friend I know was aroused at 3 a. m. by what he thought was the phone at the bedside. Operator said no call. Next morning he learned a close friend was killed at 3 a. m. in a motor accident. Boo! Add contagious tongue: Burt Cobb.

Few medical examiners to prowl in the mystery story realm as the late Charles Norris, first to arrive at a New York's famous murders during the past two decades. He was a giant with a mop redolent by scrapple than Dylan, pompadour pushed like a white cockatoo and piercing black eyes. He mocked experts that he fashioned and quoted facts prolifically. As a boy great scout, I once saw him in action. A woman guest had apparently ended her life with a portion of Norris, shared with the husband, interrogated him roughly, and apparently as a routine gesture. One effulgent question brought a confused reply. In 30 minutes of machine gun questioning he had a white-faced murderer hashing a confession.

Metropolitan mystery: On Broadway below 14th street are a half dozen large, brilliantly lit movie picture stores that remain open until midnight. Several occupy almost entire blocks and their fronts are a blaze of running and rushing lights. In that section after midnight sidewalk and street traffic are deserted and the few employes on guard in each store usually sit in short-sleeved ease in curb chairs. Customers are few and the electrical expense alone must be terrific. Yet they have been following the custom for years.

I am told the prima for appeal of the movie actor Francis Lederer is not so much with the impressionable maids of debutante age as with gentle middle-aged ladies, the white-haired types who indulge a single cigaret in tea rooms and never miss a morning lecture. He receives few mash notes but is there any mad scramble for his autograph. No other cinema star has exactly the same lure.

The hotel top in luxury when I came to town was Jim Regan's Knickerbocker at Broadway and 42d street. He was so exclusive he shooed star reporters out of his bars. Regan was a rough-spoken Irishman graduated from bar-keeping on Third avenue. He was impressed by swank and learned how to dispense it as profitable commodity. He was up at 5 every morning to taste the first brew of coffee. Often he had it made over several times, believing coffee the most important essential of inn keeping. He was the first landlord to have his clerks change to dinner jackets at sundown. Elevator boys had morning, afternoon and evening costumes. When special patrons—such as Caruso—stepped on elevators, there were no stops. House detectives were not allowed above the first floor.

Hotels that stand out most vividly are the Ritz-Carlton in New York, the Paris Ritz (Vendome side), the Katherine Augusta Victoria at Weimar, and the Dome at Cologne. The Dome has a special niche in memory. I arrived long after midnight by motor, ravenously hungry. In the bath I wondered if it might be too late to order a ham on rye with a tall glass of Pilsner. And—a roll of the drums, professor!—When I stepped into the bedroom there on a tray were a ham on rye and a pitcher of Pilsner. A house custom, for all late hour arrivals.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Oct. 4, 1925.

It was announced that the Harding Park Memorial association would be organized at a meeting of Chamber of Commerce representatives in Milton, Wash., on Oct. 8. It was being formed for the purpose of furthering a proposed mountain park to be named after President Harding.

Addresses on "The Layman's Relation to the Church" were given by men of Trinity Baptist church in the Sunday night services. J. P. Thatcher was chairman and talks were given by Clyde C. Smith, E. O. Unpacher, H. F. Pulsford, Arthur A. Van Atta and A. J. Tower.

Mrs. Paul Knappenberger, Miss Louise Frank and Miss Mary Catherine Hinklin visited over the week-end with friends in Cleveland.

The annual harvest festival was observed with special services at St. Paul's Episcopal church. A choir program was given under the direction of Ernst C. Carl and the rector, Rev. I. Frederic Jones, spoke on "Thanksgiving for Harvest."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Oct. 4, 1915.

Ample preparedness for military conflict was advocated at the opening session of the national defense conference in Washington. David J. Palm, past commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., in the opening address said, "America's motto should be 'Trust in God and Keep Your Powder Dry'."

Metz, mightiest German fortress on the western frontier was bombarded by an armada of French airplanes.

The Kenton pastoral conference of the Evangelical Synod of North America convened at Salem Evangelical church. The opening address on, "The Challenge of Society to the Church of Jesus Christ," was given by Rev. C. J. Koepel of Kenton.

Members of the city council and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce met and discussed plans for adopting a new system of house numbering in Marion. The concensus seemed to favor what was known as the "red" system.

The board of education met and considered bids on construction of a new high school building but did not agree on awarding of the contract.

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 4.—Upton Sinclair's home is a hideout here on a street that even the taxi drivers do not know. They will charge you $1.50 to find out. The Rockefeller and the Dillon family (Ambassador) mansions a mile away, are easily accessible but interviews with the puritan Epicurean are available only by appointment.

The latest rumor reason for this around Los Angeles is that the man who polled 879 votes for governor last year is now in retirement, or semi-retirement. The active leader of the wing of votes is supposed to be State Senator Colbert L. Olson. At least Mr. Olson is running the state EPIC movement, which now controls most of the state governmental offices except that of the governor.

But if you forgather with Mr. Sinclair, you will find that he has grander notions than retirement.

Selling Campaign

The real reason for the shift of EPIC burden appears to be that this smart politician has turned his mind to the national scene since the death of Huey Long. Mr. Sinclair will start out on a lecture tour in about 10 days and hit every large city and section of the country, selling the EPIC doctrines.

His organization, he says, is now in 12 states. He has no idea that this outfit can play any important role in the next election. In fact, he is setting up autonomous state groups permitting them to do whatever they like in their state politics.

Mr. Sinclair's game apparently is one of waiting until President Roosevelt has failed. He will prepare while waiting. He appears to have no presidential aspirations for himself. He knows too much for that. But he certainly is scheming to get his proposition (or one) unemployment relief scheme into operation nationally through Mr. Roosevelt or any other political agency which happens to be available.

Benching

Therein lies a full understanding of the political enigma. Sinclair, who has been using the Democratic party to advance his ideas in this state. He is for Mr. Roosevelt. He will be for Mr. Roosevelt up to the 1936 Democratic convention. You may quote him on that. (In fact, you may quote him on anything. He does not talk off the record, professing to have no secrets.)

Frankly, he will say his support of Mr. Roosevelt is not because he likes the new dealer. In fact, he believes 90 per cent of the new deal has failed or is about to fail. The only Roosevelt policy he supports is TVA. However, Mr. Roosevelt is the only national figure he can be for, so he is for Mr. Roosevelt.

His EPIC will put their own slate of delegates in the Democratic primary here next year, despite all you may have heard to the contrary. They will contest against the Farley-McAdoo delegates, not on the question of Mr. Roosevelt's renomination but solely to get an EPIC plank in the Democratic national platform.

Thus, further you can see where Mr. Sinclair is reaching for the aims that were Huey Long's.

Fault

There is one grave technical political weakness in the proposed national EPIC expansion. For the benefit of people who may have come in late, it may be related that his plan is to make the unemployed earn their own way by self-supporting production for use. Mr. Roosevelt's way is to pay the unemployed from the federal treasury and let them spend the money wherever they choose.

Thus the new deal's money goes into business; Mr. Sinclair would deprive business of that income.

Mr. Sinclair's answer to this is that the business man would not have to pay unemployment relief taxes under his plan, but it is doubtful whether he will be able to sell many business men on that idea.

Politics

The best that most Republicans can see is that this fifth most important state (electorally) is doubtful. Democrats insist that they would carry it easily today. They claim to have the EPICs, the regular Democrats who hate the EPICs and the Hiram Johnson progressive Republican following. This makes a hard combination to beat, if the economically antagonistic component parts will hang together.

Certainly the New Deal support in the state, as in many another, comes as the most motley assemblage ever gathered together under one banner.

Poll

A Los Angeles broker, returning from San Francisco by boat the other day, took a presidential preference poll of passengers to amuse himself. He wishes he hadn't. The first-class cabin results showed 51 for Mr. Roosevelt, 14 Republican and eight Communist. (Which is another indication that Communism is a live cancer in this state.)

Notes

The Republican county chairman in Los Angeles has been going around making speeches to Townsend clubs, which is a further sign that political matrimony is being attempted.

Water is the requirement for expansion in this community, and this will get later on, if it now through the Boulder Dam development. Optimistic business men say the new water will permit a 10,000,000 population around here. The population of Los Angeles is now about 1,500,000.

The Communist movement among students of one local university is supposed to be larger than in any other university in the country.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—New York sharps prophesy that negotiations for international monetary stabilization are about to jell. They understand we have definitely though privately joined France in urging such action and that Britain is at last ready to talk turkey. The war scare has intensified the demand for action from all quarters and several new factors have entered the situation.

France is said to be prepared now to devalue the franc by 20% as a necessary preliminary. Both the United States and Britain have insisted on this—as otherwise the franc would have been too far out of line. The French have been very nervous about yielding the point for fear of political repercussions at home—but have finally figured it is wiser to give in than to take a chance on chaos. The English still hanker to cheapen the pound some more against the dollar before reaching a final understanding—they claim the dollar is undervalued—but they aren't as adamant about it as they were. An agreement with France for a common policy towards Italy—which would be part of the deal—is more urgent.

Insiders say that our role in the undercover negotiations isn't exactly passive. Word is that we are ready to renounce further monetary manipulation for keeps if Britain will accept the present dollar-pound ratio. The corollary is that if Britain insists on depreciating her currency we are set to match her step for step—and we are better heeled for that kind of a scrap than she is. The administration is also said to have expressed a willingness to settle the war debt mess once and for all—which England is anxious to do. Of course on that point it's well to remember that the President may propose—but the senate will dispose.

Rails

New York experts figure that railroad earnings for the rest of this year should benefit from more than seasonal expansion. August and September will show coal loading above normal. Moreover, October was a poor month in 1934—so loadings and earnings for October and possibly November of this year will look unusually good by comparison. A majority of important roads should be able to increase net operating earnings for the full year.

Great Northern and Southern Pacific are expected to show great improvement over 1934. Better earnings are also anticipated for Pennsylvania, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio and Atchison. Nickel Plate, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie and Union Pacific should at least hold their own and possibly come through with slight gains.

Lackawanna and New York, Ontario & Western—both anthracite carriers—probably will not do quite as well as last year. This also applies to Illinois Central, Long Island and Missouri-Kansas-Texas.

Unfriendly

Bankers in close contact with London learn that Germany has made tentative overtures to Britain for a credit of two million pounds. What's more, British banking circles are said to be quite receptive. The feeling among them is that Hjalmar Schacht has done a remarkable job of reorganizing German finances. The interest rate suggested makes their mouths water—and they do not consider the risk excessive.

But that doesn't mean the loan will go through. The British foreign office will have something to say about that. France would be sure to construe such aid to the "enemy" as an unfriendly gesture—and it would never do to irritate France at this juncture.

Retrenching

New York understands that Budget Director Dan Bell will have enormous piles of figures constituting the "estimates" for the next fiscal year ready when the President returns to the capital. In this table must be inserted the item for continued work-relief—or its equivalent.

Perhaps this item will be determined at Coco Island.

By scaling down experimental and emergency items President Roosevelt could go far toward making up a suitable work-relief appropriation without staggering congress. No one knows where the axe will fall—or whether it will fall. Hence the uneasy feeling throughout emergency agencies. Some of the enterprising lads are "looking around" for something equally good. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is palpably hashing in. The industrial loan and mortgage corporation ends of RFC are doing very little business and are letting out rather than taking on new men. Financial circles are keeping a close eye on all signs of retrenchment as a test of the President's good faith on the subject of tax reduction.

Sidelights

Only 2% of municipal securities issued in this country are in default . . . This compares to 6% of utilities, 16% of rails and 38% of foreigns . . . Over $150,000,000 of foreign capital took refuge in the United States in September . . . The British building boom is reported about at an end.

100-YEAR MEMENTO

A Columbus newspaper was the recipient several years ago of an interesting memento of the "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too" campaign of 1840.

It was a little log cabin, typical of the "log cabin" so-called because the Whig candidate lived in a log cabin at North Bend, O., cast of some light alloy metal, lightness being necessary because the trinket was intended to be worn as a watch charm. A ring was embedded in the roof for this purpose.

The workmanship was fine—the outline of the clapboards in the roof, the "sticks" of which the chimney frame was made and the logs of the sides of the cabin as well as the corner notches are all discernable. The chimney stands in the middle of one end of the cabin, the door and two windows on one side, the other side being without opening at all. A rain barrel stands near one corner and at the side of the door is the inevitable coonskin. Harrison incidentally won the election over Van Buren, getting 234 electoral votes.

Swindlers Get $40,000,000 Yearly From Americans

"torpedoing" of a government raid under Graham's thorough direction

Dimond Roams World

Tall thin-faced relentless Graham and Lieut Tommy Dimond of Essex county New Jersey are known internationally for their unceasing drive against swindlers. Dimond learned the business from Graham but his position as detective for Essex county has been less confining and he has stalked swindlers around the world

Swindlers have nothing but contempt for those whose confidence they gain and flee All victims have larceny in their hearts else they wouldn't have any part in the deals which take their money swindlers say

The swindlers show no respect for title or rank. Shrewd leaders of industry and government law enforcement officers have fallen before the attractive offers of the "con" men. These victims seldom make complaints.

Victim Prefers No Charges

A wealthy English distiller visited Canada a few years ago and dropped $700 000 to a bunco man Shortly thereafter he lost another $150 000

Some of the swindlers have been taken to England it was learned, but the distiller will file no complaint—he doesn't want his friends to know of his gullibility

The trap that catches the victims seldom varies After a brief acquaintance in which he is the affluent host the "con" man finds" a pocketbook under the table while he and his victim are eating The wallet contains any amount of money above $50 a surety bond of $100 000 and a faked newspaper clipping of a man who is said to be a sensationally wise stock investor or horse race gambler

The pocketbook is returned to the owner and to show his appreciation the owner bets or invests the money in the wallet saying he will give the profits to the bones. finders The profits multiply rapidly and soon represent up to several hundred thousand dollars.

Then Comes Pay Off

To collect the profits the victim is induced to convert securities to help the swindler show the stock exchange or racing commission that the bets were made in good faith and could have been paid had the lucky man lost. When the money is put up that is the last the victim sees of it.

The game is known as the drop pocketbook the pay off racket and by other names Its variations are worked principally on Anglo-Saxons—from the English and Irish to Australians and Americans who mingle in the international circles of Paris Shanghai Honolulu and other resorts of the world

The English call the racket the hot seat and a rosary is found instead of a pocketbook The French have a very explicit designation— les affairs American a la Chicago

France Not Sympathetic

If two Americans come to France and one swindles the other of his money the French police listen attentively but they make no pretense of pulling the fleeced Americans chestnuts out of the fire for him And the man who did the swindling loses no dignity with the police he is still known as a chevalier d'industry —a gentleman of industry

The largest swindle of all time is credited to Scarface Spencer an Italian con man who took $750 000 from an English family vacationing in Italy He served a year in an Italian prison but no trace ever was found of his money

Australian Mack was the dean of them all He has been reported dead but government agents have not been able to confirm it and many believe that at the age of 80 he lives in some secluded place off the fortune he must have saved He used Dapper Dan Collins a latter day swindler who now insists he is through with the game, as one of his lesser assistants

Proficient Bond Jumpers

William Mead the Christ Kid who was leader of the Denver ring broken up in 1922 by District Attorney Philip Van Cise, has added new marks to his long police record He jumped a $10 000 bond in Florida on a swindle case was arrested at Worcester Mass and jumped another bond on a minor charge before prints of his scarred fingers could be checked

Little Jeff Sharon whose record is known around the world also skipped out on a Florida bail where he was arrested

Stew Donnley "the best dressed man in Indianapolis is waiting trial in a Montreal prison on a charge of swindling a Los Angeles police lieutenant out of $22 000

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Roderick Sadly Begins His Period of Punishment for Behavior

THERE WAS no theatricalism in Junior's voice as he asked me if I couldn't let him take half of the punishment he knew I was planning for Roderick As I looked into my boy's clear eyes I knew there was no flamboyant emotionalism back of his offer He was sincere unaffected and my heart was warm with pride for him

I was equally proud of Roderick the next instant when with patent equal sincerity he excitedly protested his cousin's offer

"No Jun no he exclaimed and then he turned to me

"Don't pay any attention to him Auntie Madge' He's gone off his nut He didn't have a thing to do with this—not a thing—and he shouldn't have a bit of the punishment

Feels Responsible

"Yes, I should too Junior said adding the surprising corollary You see in a way I'm responsible for it all

"How do you get that way?" Roderick demanded You always tried to stop me

"But I didn't try hard enough" Junior said and I hushed Roderick's rejoinder with an uplifted protesting hand

"Why do you say you're responsible Junior'" I asked Was Roderick wrong in saying that you had no part in this?

"No'm he's telling the truth he said I never started any of the cars I didn't even put a key in and I did try to get Rod not to be foolish But I'm responsible—responsible he corrected himself meticulously just the same'

"What makes you think so?" I asked again hushing Roderick in to silence

"I'm to blame two ways" he said In the first place I ought to have snitched when Rod got those keys cause I knew he was And then there in the car I going off his nut sooner or later ought to have been watching him instead of playing with Scottie and watching that aviator If I'd been paying attention I could have hit him when he tried to start the car

He probly would have licked me he conceded generously, but at least he couldn't have started the car before someone of the grown ups could have got there So you see I ought to have some of the punishment

"No' no I tell you'" Roderick vociferated

I agree with both of you' I said slowly and waited while their eyes wide and puzzled searched mine for the explanation of my meaning

"You are as you say responsible for not coming to me about the keys in the first place I went on and you should have watched Roderick more closely But—the first of those omissions is excusable because of your fear of snitching and the second was carelessness which while inexcusable if it happens again can hardly be charged against you now For after all you never had been told to watch Roderick or be responsible for him

My boy drew a deep breath—of relief I guessed—and I went on

"But I am afraid you will find punishment enough to suit you in knowing that Roderick has to undergo certain things—and that you will be unable to be with him"

"Do you mean" Junior faltered, "that he's going to be whipped?"

"No" I said sharply "I already have told Roderick that. There will be no physical pain involved in his punishment. I have not thought it out yet. But I want it to be something that he will not forget as long as he lives."

"Haven't you any idea wh-" it's going to be'" Roderick asked in a small, terrified voice which made me yearn to snatch him up, hug him and tell him that all punishment was remitted.

"Not yet. It will take very careful thinking out. But I have already told Roderick what part of his punishment is to be, and you, Junior, must help him carry it out. He is not to speak to you, the baby of Scottie until we get to the mountains. You must help by not speaking to him. If there is anything you wish to say to each other you may say it now, but after this minute on your mute begins."

"Well" he ...

...laughs at me and holds out her arms and if Scottie wags his tail and licks my face I'll have to turn away So I'm going to keep as far away from both of 'em as I can"

Homegrown Produce Fades from City Market Shelves

Marion market dealers passed the word around today that homegrown produce will have its final innings within the next few days, as cars bearing early fall crops from the Pacific coast are rolling in to fill the gap.

With the exception of cabbage there will be no homegrown produce after next week, dealers report. Many items from California and other states already have made their debut on the market stands, while others will continue to enter the picture almost daily.

cooler Indiana watermelons. Customers canvassings and artichokes from California. The melons are "Casabas," dealers said, and selling at 20 and 25 cents each. The cantaloupe from Colorado meet with that from Arizona that has the stands last week to offer shoppers a good variety at reasonable prices.

As last week, California captured the spotlight from other states with fresh shipments of many varieties. Among the produce from the coast are Brussels sprouts, broccoli, new green olives, plenty of grapes, pears and more seedless grapefruit.

Homegrown tomatoes are being replaced on the market stands by those from the hothouse. The cold weather has pointed off the former pretty much. Another item of interest to shoppers is good quality mangoes from Cleveland. Also hothouse mushrooms.

Pickles and cucumbers are gone and have been replaced by shipments from the hothouse. Peaches for canning are still available, and the latest arrivals are lemons from peaches from Vermilion, O.

An item introduced last year that became very popular is a handy package of a variety of vegetables for soup. The vegetables are packed in cellophane. There is ample for a good serving of soup.

Other produce here in good quality and quantity from Massachusetts, homegrown grapes, fresh bulk dates from Persia, Idaho potatoes and string figs from Italy.

The lettuce cutters are busy in the Arizona now, and have sent along some of the finest looking lettuce to dot the market stands this year.

TWO MEN HELD AFTER GAINS L. RUSH CRASH

One To Be Charged With Reckless Driving, Other With Intoxication.

Clyde Hayes of Grimes Landing, W. Va., and Steve Halaspios of Akron are in county jail awaiting arraignment in connection with an automobile accident yesterday near Larkin in which Glenn L. Rush of 267 North Prospect street suffered injuries to his spine and legs.

Dr. A. A. Starner, attending the injured man, said his head and the back of his neck were giving him the most pain today, and that for the present he will be kept under observation. Dr. Starner said he did not believe the injury would prove serious, but that it would be several days before any thorough diagnosis could be made. X-ray examinations will be made within a day or two. Mr. Rush is at his home.

Hayes, driver of the car which struck a car driven by Mr. Rush, will be charged with reckless driving and Halaspios, owner of the car driven by Hayes, will be charged with intoxication, the office of Sheriff Fred F. Miller reported.

According to statements given Deputy W. H. Wills, the Halaspios car, coming up too fast behind the Rush car, crashed into it, throwing Mr. Rush forward in the driver's seat. Both cars were on Route 95, going into LaRue.

Hayes and Halaspios were not at the scene of the accident when Deputy Wills arrived and he apprehended them at a house near DeWitt.

The damage to Mr. Rush's car was estimated at $500.

MOTHER HEARS VOICE OF SON IN LETTERS

[illegible] reading [illegible] of news of his friend he would be more than repaid for his efforts to make her days seem long.

She laughs heartily at a record he made singing a song. Years of [illegible] as the letters progress she says never grew up as a boy did he as much as [illegible] and to think he'd go way off to South America to stay.

Mr. Colvin, "Bob" to his friends, will be remembered in Marion by those with whom he worked while experts [illegible] construction of [illegible] starting 2 years ago, and those with whom he came in contact the year afterwards while he was employed as an engineer for the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Letters Are Weekly

Each week he sends the three to the "letters," "written on both sides" and about every two weeks he dispatches a large package of records of regular size on which he has recorded songs and greetings by his friends, descriptions of interesting places and buildings in and near Barranquilla, recordings of favorite native records and programs he receives on his short wave radio set.

One of the large records is labeled "The Party." A party of his friends gathered in his room and each one contributed something to the record, including personal greetings to Mrs. Colvin. Anyone visiting who stops at the hotel is invited to Mr. Colvin's room to make a record.

It costs Mr. Colvin $1.65 in South American silver to send the letters by a ship. To send a similar package from Marion to Colombia would cost about 70 cents, the rate of exchange influencing the difference in mailing cost, more than [illegible] per cent.

So far [illegible] Mr. Colvin has constructed one of the leading concrete egg [illegible] in concrete in the country. He built the long Sandusky Bay bridge span, and last year was chief engineer on the constructing of 12 navy docks in Honolulu. SEIZURE OF ADUWA BELIEVED IMMINENT about Aksum not far from Aduwa.

There was still uncertainty as to the extent of the casualties that were caused when Italian bombers headed by the son-in-law of Il Duce dropped death from the sky on Aduwa yesterday. The report that 1,700 persons including women, children and Red Cross nurses had been killed or wounded was said in some sources to be greatly exaggerated.

Count Galleazzo Ciano, kin at law to Mussolini, told a correspondent that he bombed Aduwa only after heavy machine gun and artillery fire was directed at us."

The official version of yesterday's bombing of Aduwa and Adigrat follows:

After bombing the fortifications at Aduwa, Count Galleazzo Ciano son-in-law of Il Duce, flew over Adigrat. There he dropped his remaining bombs upon an armed group as the fortifications directed a heavy fire at his plane. The squadron returned to its base after completing the operations without a casualty.

Ford Mareb River

Moving forward without noteworthy obstruction the Fascist troops forded the shallow mountain torrents of the Mareb river.

They pushed on steadily by new paths to the village of Daro Tacle, equidistant between the river and Aduwa.

The advance column of Eritrean cavalry encamped only 20 kilometers (about 12 miles) from Aduwa, commanding all approaches.

Gen. Emilio De Bono commanding the Italian colonial forces issued a proclamation to tribesmen of the Mareb river sector telling them the Italian troops were advancing and warning them to go about their businesses tranquilly to avoid a conflict.

Woe to all those who diffuse false notices or disturb public order, said the proclamation addressed to frontier tribesmen in Ethiopia and Eritrea alike. I shall be inexorable.

Area Under Martial Law

It was issued simultaneously with a proclamation at Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, declaring both Eritrea and Somaliland to be under full martial law.

The Mareb hitherto marked the borders of Italy's colony of Eritrea and the Tigre region of Ethiopia.

Details of the advance reported to military quarters here indicated it was ordered by Gen. De Bono almost before the echoes of Mussolini's radio speech to the mobilized Italian millions died away Wednesday.

Ciano bombed the fortress of Aduwa yesterday in reprisal for reported artillery fire from the Ethiopian side which molested scouting of the territory.

Count Ciano himself launched the first aerial bombs over Aduwa, officials said.

The vantage point gained by the cavalry permitted them to swarm down upon Aduwa defenses virtually at will. The village of Daro Tacle dominates the Aduwa basin.

Italian officers were jubilant at the precision with which their first advance took place. They explained with great gratification that this same territory was relinquished by Italy after the rout at Aduwa in 1896 and that this was the first time since then that an Italian army had crossed the Mareb.

Officers recalled that other localities in the Tigre region already spoken of as having been regained for Italy echoed to the tread of Italian soldiers in the late 1890's. They said the sector would hear this marching cadence again within a few days.

Area Larger Than Switzerland

These localities are Abba and Carima 10 kilometers southeast of Aduwa and the villages of Macalle, Adigrat and Alagi. Each of these centers feeds on a territory half again as large as Switzerland.

The forward force reports to military quarters here said consists of a strong advance column of Eritrean cavalry under Gen. Alessandro Pirzio-Biroli.

Mussolini selected this crafty 58-year-old desert and mountain fighter to act as one of the big six generals to whom he confided the responsibility for Italy's forces in east Africa.

Experienced with natives in the sands and rocks of Libyan campaigns, Gen. Pirzio-Biroli was assigned to command the native troops of Eritrea and to see that the tribesmen observed the best traditions of Italian arms.

His native cavalrymen were supported by large detachments of Italian infantrymen, tank corps and field artillery, the numbers and identifications of which were kept a military secret.

Uncomfortably close to Emperor Selassie's capital, Addis Ababa, French police at Deridawa warned foreigners including Americans to evacuate at once. No armed forces as yet menaced this vital community on the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad line but the authorities feared an air raid.

The emperor was represented as hoping that the League of Nations, in which he has placed his faith might still serve to end hostilities. The Italian legation was closely guarded to prevent any violence to ward the Italian minister.

Italian planes dropped leaflets over some Ethiopian territory near Eritrea, urging them not to resist and promising not to disturb them.

Weather at Capital Perfect

The weather at Addis Ababa today was perfect. The trails and roadways over much of Ethiopia however still need a week and more of sunshine to dry them.

Anti-aircraft guns and other defense weapons were being installed in many sections of Egypt to meet eventualities.

Duce Signs Trade Pact With Spain

By The Associated Press

ROME, Oct. 4.—Premier Mussolini today signed a new commercial treaty with Spain.

Unofficial sources suggested the action was a preparation against the imposition of economic sanctions against Italy as a result of the Ethiopian campaign.

It was announced that by terms of the new pact the trade between Italy and Spain will be greatly increased.

Il Duce and the Spanish ambassador signed the pact jointly in Mussolini's office.

AGE PENSION BOARD NAMED FOR COUNTY

county commissioners to make second and third choices that brought on the deadlock between the board and the chief of the state division over an appointment in the Marion county office—a deadlock that was broken only by the resignation of the two board members. J. O. Weiss, third member of the board who did not resign with Mr. McCurdy and Mr. Custer, automatically has been dropped from the board in view of the fact the commissioners can no longer serve as a group, Mr. Coughlin said.

One of the Marion county board's first jobs will be the selection of first, second and third choices for the position of office assistant for the Marion county pension office. At present James L. Kirby administrator of the pension law in Marion county is in sole charge of the office with only the help of Mrs. Lucy Schofield who has been volunteering part time service as office assistant.

Only One Certified

Members of the board of county commissioners at the time of their resignations said Mrs. Schofield was the only person certified by the state civil service commission as being eligible for appointment as office assistant and declared that Berrodin had refused to give her a permanent appointment. She served 30 days under a provisional appointment that expired Sept. 1.

Mr. Coughlin while here yesterday disclosed that the position of investigator in Marion county, the principal bone of contention between Berrodin and the county commissioners will not be filled at least for the present. He said the county is not entitled to an investigator in the pension office until 750 persons are on the list of those receiving pensions.

He said the Marion county board in view of the absence of a list of three persons eligible to a civil service appointment as office assistant will be asked to agree on first second and third choices for a provisional appointment to be made by the chief of the division.

Due to the approach of a busy period in the pension office in November when the volume of re... applications will become heavy, it is expected the ... provisional appointment of an office assistant will be made in the near future.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE AT COOKING SCHOOL

previous days she suggested using the "frying fat" about four times before adding a cup of fresh fat to replenish and also refresh it. She made coffee and gave as an infallible recipe for a good beverage a tablespoon of coffee to a cup of water and allowing it to percolate not longer than eight minutes after the coffee has begun to "perk." She added as a matter of choice, that the water could be cold or bubbling hot, and said she preferred the latter.

Housewives whose cooking days began several decades ago smiled at the old-fashioned recipe of floating island which was a popular dessert concoction of milk, eggs, cornstarch and other ingredients. When placed in the crystal sherbet glass and topped with meringue and jelly it was as appetizing as the newest of desserts. Serving with some of the holiday cookies on the recipe menu was a suggestion by Mrs. Thurn.

Unusual Recipe

A banana salmon salad was the most unusual recipe on the menu and biscuits was Mrs. Thurn's suggestion as something to serve with it. She told the women not to keep eggs in the refrigerator but to place them in a cool pantry or on the floor of the basement.

The serving of the evening meal in the dining room is a pleasant hour for the family, she said and gives the housewife who has spent time in the kitchen preparing the meal a change from the culinary scenery.

A well balanced meal economically planned and attractively served was stressed by Mrs. Thurn and yesterday's offering was an excellent example of what the well fed family might enjoy.

The cooking school closed with this afternoon's session.

Yesterday's audience included girls of the home economics department from Richwood, Agosta and Central Junior High schools.

Works progress administration officials in Washington announced that Dr. Karl Watson of Findlay will succeed C. C. Stillman of Columbus as Ohio WPA chief in a few days.

Stillman, chairman of the department of social administration at Ohio State university requested permission to return to his class rooms. Sen. Bulkley backed Dr. Watson to succeed Stillman.

I have a high regard for Stillman and his work," Dr. Watson said as he accepted the appointment. "And I'm not going down there to tear things up."

Stillman already has Dr. Watson a goal of 200,000 men at work on WPA projects by Nov. 1. Fifty thousand are at work now.

Dr. Watson retired as a practicing surgeon in Toledo seven years ago. In 1933 he became Democratic state chairman with the backing of Sen. Bulkley and former Gov. White.

The health commissioner made 15 visits to communicable diseases during the month, held five conferences on public health, seven consultations with physicians, examined 36 school children and 15 food handlers, and conducted 48 general investigations. He inspected eight milk samples and issued 20 workers certificates. Four residents were ordered to the woods. Twenty-two persons were vaccinated.

Miss Debora McManus, city nurse, reported she made 189 visits during the month. The nurse made eight prenatal visits, 15 maternity visits, 17 infant welfare visits, four preschool visits, 14 orthopedic visits, 14 tuberculosis visits, four visits in behalf of physically handicapped persons and miscellaneous visits, five visits to [illegible] hospital, and made 57 school visits and 29 to homes in behalf of school children. Thirty-five contacts certificates were delivered. Patients given certificates numbered 15 and 22 office consultations were held. The nurse conducted a total of 79 inspections and found 31 defects. Industrial inspections numbered 28. One conference was held with parents of school children and 18 consultations were with teachers.

Dr. J. T. Gruber, city food and food inspector in his September report recorded 38 inspections of which 20 were farm inspections and nine at milk plants. Dr. Gruber condemned 110 gallons of milk and collected 24 samples. Two persons were stopped from selling milk without a permit, and two producers permits were cancelled. Permits of three producers were suspended 10 days for improper cooling of milk after they had been warned several times. Twelve producers were ordered to repair their cow barns and 12 were ordered to repair their milk houses. The inspector made 26 butter fat tests, 24 solid tests, 24 moisture tests, 70 bacteria count tests, 24 acid tests, 41 temperature tests and 106 sediment tests. Reduction tests made numbered 227 and four subsequent examinations were made.

The sanitary report of Police Chief William E. Marks shows 28 general investigations conducted. Seven persons were ordered to clean up their premises six were ordered to clean and repair toilets, eight ordered to remove garbage, two told to discontinue burning garbage, five ordered to remove trash and ashes and three ordered to cut weeds.

SOLUTION IS FOUND FOR CLASS SKIPPING

DES MOINES, Ia.—All the fun and romance of "skipping school" has been eliminated by modern educational methods, according to Arthur S. Hill, director of pupil adjustment in Des Moines schools.

So scientific is the modern procedure that such words as "hookey," "truant officers" and "spanking" have been eliminated, he said.

In Des Moines schools "skipping school" now is referred to as non-attendance, the truant officer has been replaced by visiting teachers. Spankings have been supplanted by a pupil adjustment department where offenders are psychoanalyzed.

One of the most common causes for non-attendance at school, Hill explained, are maladjustments in the progress of pupils. Some advance through grades more rapidly than they should and when they encounter difficulty they lose interest.

Under the department of pupil adjustment and attendance, which has supplanted the truancy officers, necessary corrections are made before harm is done to the pupils, Hill explained.

ibrils he has experienced.

"That was the most savage battle I've ever witnessed in all my years," he told friends here. He added:

"The fight started at the conclusion of the act just as I stepped out of the cage. Most of the lions and tigers had returned to their own cages by the chute.

"For some time Detroit (the lion) had been casting a wicked eye in the general direction of Alice (the tiger). This time he was upon her before my assistants or I were aware that he planned to attack.

"They fought and clawed one another for 20 minutes and then as a last resort I went back into the cage to try and pry them apart."

His efforts as well as the discharge of several rounds of blank cartridges failed to pry the jungle beasts apart, he continued.

"They didn't pay any attention to me. Alice was on the defensive. Detroit hit her with his paw and broke her back and then permitted the attendants to put him back in his cage."

Alice was Detroit's second victim in a week, the other having died after a similar fight in Muskegon, Mich.

"Hot Eye" Cases.

For years my mail has been filled with letters from those who read these health articles. It is surprising that in all this time nobody before has asked about the condition mentioned in the following letter from Toronto, Canada.

"Will you kindly advise me what are the symptoms of Hutchinsons hot eye?" Is it contagious—is it curable? For any information or enlightenment about it I shall be sincerely grateful."

The history of medicine is crowded with the achievements of tireless workers ever seeking to advance the cause of science and promote the welfare of the human race. No name stands higher in this list than that of Jonathan Hutchinson, knighted by his sovereign for unwearying activity in this field.

Sir Jonathan first described a condition to which he gave the name "hot eye." It is the ailment with which my Canadian correspondent says she is afflicted.

To make clear the nature of the disease I must tell you a little bit about the structure of the eye. First the shape and strength of the eyeball are maintained by the white fibrous tissue called the sclera. In a sense it corresponds to the case of a watch, strong and resistant to protect the works — the seeing part of the eye.

What is known as the white of the eye is really the sclera shining through the overlying delicate membrane the conjunctiva. Between the sclera and the conjunctiva is another very thin layer, the episcleral tissue.

When the eye is normal in every respect the white of the eye is actually white in some persons remarkably clear and dazzlingly white. If the eye is injured or diseased the tiny blood vessels almost invisible in health may become swollen and filled with blood. Then the eyeball becomes bloodshot, pink or even red in color.

When the inflammation is in the episcleral tissue the involved patches are red, swollen and sensitive to pressure on the eyelids and accompanied by more or less pain. The symptoms may disappear only to recure from time to time.

In Hutchinson's hot eye the relapses are frequent. The attacks last for a couple of days or perhaps a week or more. They recur after intervals of a few weeks or months. Fortunately after a year or so it is unlikely there will be further trouble.

Gout and rheumatism bear an intimate relationship to hot eye. With our modern ideas of infection it may well be that diseased gums teeth or nasal sinuses have much to do with a given case of the disease. In women at the change of life this may be a complication.

It is well to have a blood test. This will remove the suspicion that there may be a constitutional disorder at the root of the trouble.

Hot compresses and certain eye lotions will hasten recovery. With the passage of time the symptoms will disappear and ultimately the tendency to the disease.

Certain remedies for local use will add to the comfort of the patient. The oculist will carry out the treatment.

BUCYRUS CLEARS ITS AUTO MYSTERY

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 4—Mystery which surrounded the discovery of an automobile in the garage of Pat O'F Langhamer here last Monday was solved Thursday.

John J. Waters of Kansas, Mich., reported to police that he had put his car in the garage of Miss Ada Lee Hall, Mrs. Langhamer and Miss Hall were out of the city at the time. Waters was directed to a certain garage and assumed the Langhamer car, building for the car in which he had been directed.

Pat Langhamer discovered the car when he returned from a visit. He was attracted to the garage by the fact that the doors were closed and locked. That was odd, he said, when he left. An investigation was made through Michigan automobile registers, when it was discovered that the car bore a Michigan license.

Ohio Cities Prepare to Go to Polls

This is another of a series on interesting election situation in Ohio cities.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 6 —A bitter fight is in store for Columbus in the mayoralty campaign

On the Democrat side is the incumbent Henry W Worley who had considerable difficulty edging out Councilman John Lewis in the primary

Representing the Republicans who polled a record vote in the primary will be Rep Myron Gessaman majority floor leader in the Ohio house of representatives

Considerable sniping was done before the big guns of active campaigning began to boom

R F Williams unsuccessful Republican candidate for city auditor two years ago has questioned in common pleas court the citizenship of Mayor Worley

Although born in England, Worley contends he was successfully qualified for citizenship.

Worley also is confronted with a split in his own party, which has endangered the chances of other Democratic candidates on the ticket. Councilman Herbert Dalley is leading the insurgents and some observers predict he will throw his strength to Gessaman.

An organ manufacturer Worley is serving his second term. Gessaman an attorney was reelected to the general assembly last year

Other contests on the ticket have been overshadowed by the mayoralty race, but there will be a stiff fight for four positions on the city council.

OHIO BANK DEPOSITS UP $422,516,000

Figures Show Present Funds of $1,829,997,000 With Resources of $2,173,927,000.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4—A 422 million dollar increase in bank deposits from the low point of the depression told today of Ohioans' efforts to save for another rainy day.

John H. McCoy, president of the Ohio Bankers association, computed the gain from official figures of deposits in the state's 179 state and national banks.

His figures showed present deposits of $1,829,997,000, an increase of $422,516,000 since October, 1933. McCoy said that month was the low point of the depression insofar as bank statements were concerned.

Banks hold resources of $2,173,927,000 to meet deposit demands. This is an increase of $430,577,000 since October 1933.

A $10,000,000 increase in capital has brought the total to $267,930,000 despite the fact the state had fewer banks, McCoy pointed to the increase as evidence of "the determination of Ohio banks to make their institutions stronger each month."

POTATO CONTROL TO BE ENFORCED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 — In AAA circles, it was indicated today that the compulsory potato control law, an issue fraught with political controversy, would be enforced despite misgivings.

The farm agency had, however, either through accident or forethought got into a position where it could argue that farmer sentiment compelled it reluctantly to undertake the administration of the law.

VETERAN ACCUSED OF KILLING SISTER

By The Associated Press

POMEROY, O., Oct. 4—Victor Sponagel, 40-year-old shell-shocked and tubercular war veteran, faced today a charge of slaying his sister in a dispute over an estate.

The sister, Mrs. George Frecker, 45, was shot fatally at Sponagel's home. Prosecutor M. D. Webster and Sheriff Roscoe Fowler said they found Sponagel in a coma after he had drunk nearly a quart of whisky and filled the charge. Webster said Sponagel had complained of the disposition of his father's estate.

TWO UNKNOWN MEN STAB DOG TO DEATH

Dr. F. V. Murphy Offers Reward for Information Leading to Arrest.

A bird dog owned by Dr. F. V. Murphy was stabbed to death by two unidentified men late yesterday afternoon at Silver and Prospect streets while playing with neighbor children.

The children reported to Dr. Murphy that they were playing football near the Murphy home at 323 North Prospect street, and that the men had been watching them at play for a few minutes before one of them suddenly pulled a knife, grabbed the dog, and stabbed him.

Neither police nor members of the Murphy family could account for the action of the men. The children said the dog had in no way molested the bystanders. They were dressed in overalls and were of short and stocky build. Some of the children said several days ago two men had attempted to stab another dog while they were playing in a vacant lot in the neighborhood.

Dr. Murphy offers $100 reward for information leading to the arrest of the men.

WAR NOTIFICATION TO BRING EMBARGO

State Department Awaits Official Evidence Before Asking Shipment Ban.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—The state department today was awaiting official evidence of war in east Africa before recommending that President Roosevelt embargo shipments of arms and munitions to Italy and Ethiopia.

Most observers believed it unlikely that a proclamation of such an embargo would come before next week. Though officials were silent, it was believed they would await definite, official despatches telling of acts of ar before advising the embargo.

The recent session of congress passed a resolution declaring that upon the outbreak of war, or "during the progress" of war, the President must cut off shipment of arms and munitions to the belligerents. This was conceived as a means of maintaining United States neutrality.

RECKLESS DRIVERS FACING ARREST

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4—Col. Lynn Black, chief of the Ohio highway patrol, outlined today to his 120 patrolmen plans for intensifying their campaigns against irresponsible motorists.

Surveying a pin-dotted map marking the location of fatal highway accidents, Black ordered his men to concentrate their activities on 12 highways where the toll has been heaviest.

He listed the following as "death" roads:

U. S. route 40, national highway; state route 3, C. C. C. highway; U. S. route 20; U. S. route 42, between Mansfield and Cleveland; state route 31, between Columbus and Athens; state route 7, between Bridgeport and Marietta; U. S. route 30, Lincoln highway; U. S. route 422, between Youngstown and Cleveland; state route 14, between East Liverpool and Cleveland; state route 18, between Youngstown and Norwalk; U. S. route 25, Dixie highway; U. S. route 23, between Portsmouth and Marion.

FARMER INJURED IN TRACTOR ACCIDENT

Rollie Chard of west of Green Camp suffered a broken right elbow when his arm was caught in the steering wheel of a tractor yesterday afternoon while he was at work on his farm. The wheel spun when the tractor hit a stump in the field.

Mr. Chard was brought to the City hospital for treatment.

YOUTH PLEADS GUILTY TO ROBBERY CHARGE

Earl Zimmer Bound Over to Grand Jury After Return to City.

Earl Zimmer, 20, of Marion, who according to authorities has admitted beating and robbing his step-father, Edwin Boylan, 59, last Saturday night, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery in municipal court this morning and was bound over to the grand jury. His bond was fixed at $2,000.

Zimmer was brought to Marion from Sullivan, Ind., yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Fred F. Miller and Patrolman Fred Norton, who obtained a signed confession from him before they reached Marion.

Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel quoted Zimmer as saying he had been drinking Saturday night before he attacked Boylan, asleep in an upstairs room in the home they shared at 135 Wall street, beat him with an iron griddle and a club and took $30.

He also quoted Zimmer as saying there had been hard feelings between him and Boylan for a period of years. Zimmer, the officers said, had spent much of his time away from Marion but had lived at the Boylan home for approximately the last three months.

Zimmer, authorities learned, voluntarily surrendered to Sullivan police Tuesday when he learned from a girl friend in Sullivan that police were looking for him.

2,373,766 RELIEF JOBS STILL NEEDED

That Many Needed To Put 3,500,000 to Work by Nov. 1 Goal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—Relief officials faced the task today of creating 2,373,766 work relief jobs before Nov. 1 to achieve President Roosevelt's goal of putting 3,500,000 needy to work by that date.

Reports from state directors said that up to yesterday 1,126,234 persons had been given jobs on projects financed out of the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund. More than half of them were enrolled in the civilian conservation corps. As these reports came in, Corrington Gill, chief of staff of the administration's work relief program, disclosed that virtually all of the big fund had been allocated. He predicted that drive to take 2,500,000 from relief rolls and give them work would be at least 90 per cent accomplished by Nov. 1.

HOPKINS EXEMPTS FUND FROM RULING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—The public works administration announced today that Harry L. Hopkins had exempted its $330,000,000 non-federal program from the requirement that 90 per cent of its labor be taken from relief rolls.

The order followed Hopkins' earlier decision that employes on the $100,000,000 PWA slum clearance program also need not come from relief lists.
